BLAKE CREWS

While working on re-insulating a well head on one of the island locations, Blake noticed a break in the electrical heat trace system. This was the break that caused the line to freeze and interrupt production from this well. Blake brought this issue to the attention of operations and supervision so repairs could be scheduled. Thanks Blake and keep up the good observations.

IMPACT: Blake not only saved money, but got production back up and running quickly and prevented possible equipment failure.
